

The Doris Shaffer Memorial Lecture Series Presents:

Practical Steps to Peace & Justice in the Middle East

In 2007 President Obama said, "Our job is to rebuild the road to real peace and lasting security throughout the region...Our job is to do more than lay out another road map." More than two years later, we have yet to see policies implemented that will lead to peace and justice. We, as peace activists, should be asking our government to play a leadership role in bringing about the changes necessary in Israel-Palestine and the region.

Join us as we discuss the dire need for changes in U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East. What changes are essential to promote true peace, security, and justice in the region?

When: Tuesday, July 28, 2009 at 7:00pm

Where: Judson Memorial Church, 239 Thompson Street at West 4th Street

Featuring: Issam Aburaya, Palestinian Israeli citizen and Assistant Professor at the Religious Studies Department, Seton Hall University.

Daniel Fleshler, Author of Transforming America's Israel Lobby (Potomac Books), Board Member of Americans for Peace Now and Advisory Council.

David Wildman, Executive Secretary for Human Rights & Racial Justice with the General Board of Ministries of the United Methodist Church.

Co-Sponsors

Inter Religious Federation for World Peace, Brooklyn For Peace, New York City United for Peace and Justice, The Dialogue Project, Brit Tzedek v' Shalom (Jewish Alliance for Justice and Peace)

Peace Action
New York State

www.panys.org 646-723-1749

The Nation Institute

DEDICATED TO A FREE AND INDEPENDENT PRESS

www.thenationinstitute.org 212-822-0250